A Pathetic Coincidence.

Seven years ago Col. W. R. Milward, the undertaker, at Lexington, received a package containing a medal and pennant of the Grand Army of the Republic made from guns captured by the Federals during the Civil War and addressed to Thomas Dorgan in his care. He did not know Dorgan and laid the box containing the medal away. Tuesday, Milward was called to the home of John Dorgan, in Fayette county, to take charge of the remains of an old soldier from the Soldier's Home, at Dayton, Ohio, who had died while visiting here. Upon being told the name of the man Col. Milward recalled the name. Returning to his office, Col. Milward found the package which for seven years had been lying unclaimed in his desk. He pinned the medal upon the coat of the old soldier, and the remains were buried with the hundreds of other Federal soldiers in the Lexington cemetery.
